

"Working a full-time job limits the time I am able to spend with other professors. OLC provided me the ability to learn the latest and greatest tools, resources, and to network with others – just like me!"

*April Potter, Adjunct Professor, Florida Southern College & Polk State College
Supply Chain Manager, W.S. Badcock Corporation*

"I would recommend this course to anyone teaching online. The ability to take courses with peers, ask questions, and learn more about our online environment resources is well worth the time."

Learn and Grow Your Online Teaching Skills

How did you hear about this program?

Florida Southern College is an amazing proponent of education and provides us with the tools and resources we need to make our learning environments a place of knowledge. It is not a requirement, but it is made available to us! I was excited for the opportunity to spend time learning more about online teaching.

About April

Teaching is my passion, working full-time in the Supply Chain field and being able to share my knowledge is a dream come true for me. My goal in teaching is to bring real world experience, combine with supporting resources and share with my students, hoping to prepare them for the dynamic world of Supply Chain. One of the biggest challenges I have is I don't have the time to participate in campus training and I felt like I miss out on the new up and coming tools and resources that are available.

TOP PROGRAM BENEFITS

- Tips on my syllabus (the ever important road map for the student)
- Reinforcement of my current assignments and grading structures
- A reminder of how involved to be in the online learning environment
