

I possess over 17 years of higher education experience, including many years of blended and online teaching. I heard about OLC through colleagues in higher education.

I have been an OLC member since 2010. I became an OLC Institutional Member to further my institution's knowledge in the area of quality blended and online learning.

As I continue to work in the area of faculty development and quality course design, I find it essential to promote the benefits of the Online Learning Consortium at the institutional level.

Top 5 Reasons Molloy Joined OLC:

1. Keeping up with current trends
2. Applying new processes
3. Staying ahead with new tools
4. Ensuring quality standards
5. Promoting professional development

What aspect(s) of the OLC Institutional Membership does your organization use most and why? My institution finds great value in up-to-date research and professional development opportunities. We purchase the OLC Workshop Passes for the Blended/Online Learning Team and faculty members at my institution to continue their professional development in the area of online teaching and student support.

What are the top 5 benefits your organization got from OLC Institutional Membership?

1. Staying informed on current trends in blended and online learning
2. Applying new processes within blended and online learning
3. Keeping current on new tools for teaching and learning
4. Ensuring quality control standards
5. Continuing professional development for administrators and faculty

How has the OLC Institutional Membership helped your organization? OLC Institutional Membership keeps our organization well-informed on current trends in blended and online learning, which is a key strategic initiative for us.

I would recommend OLC Institutional Membership to any institution involved in blended and online learning.

“OLC Institutional Membership is critical for today’s higher education organizations as more students seek alternative delivery methods to complete their educational goals.”
